DEATH OF A BUSINESS

This is a sad story. Thanks to abusive actions by an ADA serial filer, the folks at PONY ESPRESSO will be closing the doors, forever.

Tomorrow, Saturday, will be your chance to make a little noise and let legislators in the U.S. Congress, and the California State legislature know that they (some of them anyway) need to stop the bleeding. Businesses are being killed off because of a set of laws that were designed to do a good thing, but are being misused, and businesses are dying.

Tomorrow, whenever you can, make a point of going to PONY

ESPRESSO, on Pony Express Trail, right across the street from another business that may not survive, BURGER BARN, and be a presence.

No, this is not an Occupy thing. This is simply a bunch of citizens who wonder why simple fixes cannot be made to flawed laws. Who is causing the problem, and how do they justify watching businesses die?

Sacramento Channel 10 will be there. Don't know when just yet, but they are interested.
